

Thank You

We thank the many members and friends who have contributed, each in their own way to Humanist House.

We thank our then-Executive Director, Julie Wedge, who checked 70 places to find Humanist House; our Executive Director, Debbie Allen, who made things hum; our landlord, Tom Lighthouse, who turned a metal working space into a clean and modern meeting place for us; and all our members, especially those who carried the load. You committed your hearts to the dream for three years. Heartfelt thanks to you all.

Aviation Day

In 1939 President FDR named August 19, Orville Wright's birthday, National Aviation Day. He and his brother, Wilbur, built the first successful airplane with aircraft controls that enabled them to steer the plane. Their first flight was for 12 seconds, and 120 feet, on December 17, 1903.

The Humanist Community Relocates

It is time to say goodbye to our dream of "Humanist House, A Place for All of Us."

We have determined that we will soon run out of money. We have invested $200,000 of our money, as well as many generous gifts from those who share our dream but the cost of our current home is more than we can sustain. Starting in approximately mid-September we will be in a new location.

We will miss the "clean, well-lighted," and fully equipped Humanist House, available 24/7 for our many activities such as hosting the regular meetings of the Climate Control Group, the Philosophy Group, the Substance Abuse Group, the Movies for Skeptics and others. We will miss the space to hang our ancient carved Humanist House sign, to display our new Lifetime Achievement plaque and other treasures, and, especially, to store the signs, lunch equipment, and other items we need every Sunday.

We leave with a heavy heart but with the knowledge that we gave it our all.

We are looking forward to a new location for our Sunday forums, featuring shared lunch as well as the ongoing activities in member's homes; the monthly potlucks, the Academic Video Group, and the Freethought Discussion/Book Group. We will have a newsletter available at our Sunday forums and on-line at our web page, humanists.org.

We hope that our valued current, past, and future members will join us Sunday mornings.
